Day by day

Day 1 · Delhi to Haridwar

Meet at Kashmiri Date Bus Stand at 11:00 PM/ New Delhi Railway Station. The tour manager/ local representative takes attendance, and we leave for Haridwar by bus or private cab, depending on the group size. The drive is about 220 km and takes 5 to 6 hours, with a tea stop on the way. Sleep on the road; seats recline, so carry a neck pillow and a light blanket.

Day 2 · Haridwar to Chopta

We reach Haridwar in the early morning and stop for freshening up and breakfast. Guests joining from Haridwar meet the group here. The drive to Chopta starts by about 7:00 AM and follows the Ganga through Rishikesh, then the Alaknanda through Devprayag, Srinagar and Rudraprayag, and finally the Mandakini to Ukhimath. From Ukhimath the road climbs through oak and rhododendron forest into Chopta. The full drive is about 220 km and takes 8 to 9 hours with breaks. We stop at Devprayag to see the Bhagirathi and Alaknanda meet.Reach the camps by late afternoon. Have tea, walk in the meadow, and sit around a bonfire where the forest rules allow. Dinner and night stay in camp.

Day 3 · Tungnath and Chandrashila trek

The day starts early, between 4:30 and 6:00 AM depending on the weather and the guide's call. The path from Chopta climbs about 3.5 km through meadows and forest to Tungnath temple at about 3,680 m. In December most of the upper path is under snow, and the walk takes 2 to 3 hours. The temple doors are closed in winter, but you can still reach the temple complex and see the shrine from outside.From Tungnath a steeper trail of about 1.5 km leads to Chandrashila at about 4,000 m. The summit has a wide 360-degree view of Nanda Devi, Trishul, Chaukhamba and Kedar Dome. The final stretch can be icy, so the trek guide decides on the day whether the group goes up. We then walk down, reaching camp…

Day 4 · Chopta to Haridwar and night drop to Delhi

After a relaxed breakfast and a last walk around the Chopta meadows, we pack up and begin the return drive by about 9:00 AM. We stop at Rudraprayag or Srinagar for lunch, then continue through Devprayag and Rishikesh to Haridwar, which we reach by about 5:30 to 6:30 PM. After a tea break the group boards the bus or private cab for the night drop to Delhi. You reach Delhi between midnight and 2:00 AM on the following day.If snow or a late start slows the day, the tour manager may begin the return earlier, so the group is not stuck on the hill roads at night.
